UNITED STATES PROOF COINS

Rather recently the Director of the Mint prepared a report showing the number of proof coins struck between 1863 and 1942. That is, the report showed the gold coinage from 1865 to 1915; the silver coinage from 1863 to 1942; and the minor coinage from 1878 to 1942. This information has long been desired by collectors and the Treasury Department is to be congratulated upon having been able to unearth the old records. It is assumed that the reports cover the calendar year although most Mint reports are for the fiscal year. Minor proof sets were specially struck beginning in 1878 for the convenience of collectors who did not wish to have all the silver coins. Before that date the entire series was undoubtedly struck in equal amounts as will be noted from the records of the silver proofs struck. Consequently, I think we may assume the number of pieces struck of the minor coins before 1878 must be the same as of the silver coins.

When you try to figure a proportionate value based on the published records it is very difficult, in fact it makes no sense whatever, and my opinion is that in many years a certain number of proof sets were prepared and those that were not sold were either melted up or put into circulation. Also my early experience with proofs was at a time when very little interest was shown in them. Most silver proofs sold at auction sales for only a few cents premium and the natural thing for a dealer to do if he did not have a ready sale for such proofs was to put them in the bank for redemption. I am sure many of them went this way particularly the dollars and half dollars. The comparison with recorded coinages and present day prices will be taken up more extensively in a future number of the Journal.

It is the writer's idea that proof coins in definite sets were not struck before 1840, although many proofs exist of earlier dates. However, many of these early proofs may only be first impressions from the dies, not actually struck as proof coins. This is an open question which can lead to considerable discussion. We will give a tabulation of the known proofs before 1858 in the Journal as soon as it is prepared to our satisfaction.

As a quick reference for collectors we will publish in the next two or three Journals tabulated lists of proofs giving the number coined and the 1950 catalogue valuations. This may lead eventually to a much better balanced schedule of prices on the whole series.

THE ABUKIR MEDALLIONS

One of the most important features of the J. Pierpont Morgan collections was the very remarkable series of gold medallions from the find at Abukir. These splendid objects of art, hitherto unknown, astounded both the Numismatic and Art worlds and many experts found it very difficult to believe in their authenticity. Dr. Heinrich Dressel, of the Berlin Museum, was one of the first qualified experts to be convinced of the authenticity and importance of these medallions. There were twenty pieces in the find and the Berlin Museum selected five for their cabinet. At the same time Dr. Dressel prepared a very extensive monograph, "Funf Goldmedaillons Aus Dem Funde Von Abukir", Berlin 1906. The monograph not alone covers the five medallions purchased by the Berlin Museum, but constitutes a complete list of the entire twenty pieces in the find with full descriptions. Six of these medallions formerly in the collection of Dr. Edde of Alexandria, were purchased by Mr. Morgan in 1911. A little later in the same year, two other medallions belonging to Madame Sinadino of Alexandria, were acquired by Mr. Morgan. The first six medallions are described by Edward T. Newell in the American Journal of Numismatics, July 1910. At the end of his dissertation upon the medallions, Mr. Newell gives a paragraph describing the probable reasons for the striking of such pieces. We have taken the liberty of reproducing this paragraph in its entirety as follows:

"The medallions were prizes for the winners of the Olympian games held in the 274th year of the Actian era (A.D. 242-243), in honor of Alexander the Great, at Beroea in Macedonia, and in the presence of the Emperor Gordian III. The style points also to the third century of our era, though the models were undoubtedly of Hellenistic times. The large and well-known series of bronze coins, with inscription ΚΟΙΝΟΝ ΜΑΚΕΔΟΝΩΝ, also aids in fixing the date of these medallions. All of that series bear on the obverse a bust of Alexander the Great, and on the reverse various types referring to the games and to Alexander's exploits. They were struck under the emperors from Caracalla to Gordian III, for use during the same games for which the gold medallions were issued as prizes. The similarity between these two series of bronze and gold, in style, workmanship, letters, and internal archaeological evidence, is plain to everyone."

The eight medallions from the Morgan Collection have all been disposed of, also some of the other known pieces have recently changed hands. In a future article, we hope to give a complete story of the present whereabouts of the entire series of twenty pieces.

THE COIN COLLECTOR'S JOURNAL

Established 1875

Published by WAYTE RAYMOND, INC.

Subscription price $2.00 yearly. Issued six times a year.

A Gift to New Subscribers

The Coin Collector's Journal has always been published as a house organ to create an interest in our various publications, albums, and such coins as we may have for sale. The nominal charge of $2.00 per year does not nearly pay the cost of publication. If every subscriber bought a reasonable amount of our products each year we would gladly give him the publication as we are firm believers in direct advertising. If, however, we offered to send the Journal without charge, we would be swamped with requests, a large portion of which would not bring us any return whatever. This was our reason in the first place for having a subscription price to the Journal, as we felt that a collector who objected to paying $2.00 a year for the information contained in this publication could not possibly be very much interested in collecting coins. While this has worked out quite satisfactorily, we do feel that there are many collectors who would like to have our Journal, but balk at paying a fee for a house organ. So, we have tried to figure out an offer which would make it worth while for any collector to give us his yearly subscription. This idea is explained in the next paragraph.

Some years ago, we started the publication of a varied lot of monographs known as the "Coin Collector's Series." This idea was very well received and some of the monographs have gone through two or three editions. Our inventory as of the first of the year, shows a reduced stock on a large number of these publications, making it hardly worth while to advertise them further as we find the cost of new editions would be so much more, that we could not sell at the same price. So, we have decided to offer such stock as we have on hand, of the Coin Collector's Series numbers as listed on the opposite page, as a premium for subscriptions to the Coin Collector's Journal. In other words, if you send a $2.00 subscription to the Journal, you will be entitled to $2.00 list value from the available publications. This will also apply to renewals or any subscriptions sent within the last 60 days. This is in no way a reduction in the price of the various Coin Collector's Series which we will continue to offer at the list price as long as our present stock is available.

DURING 1950

With each yearly ($2.00) subscription to The Coin Collector's Journal you are offered a choice (to the list price of $2.00) of the following publications absolutely free.

| Title | List Price |
